

Now however, many companies want to stand out from the competition with their own, brand new health claims.